

Only 6 shooters were brave enough to show up for our first Hunter class match of the season, the weather showed up with GUSTO with 20 to 30 mph winds with gusts of blowing dirt that were much higher than that and if that wasn't bad enough I made it out to the range with no cookies to go with our coffee that we couldn't make because the tarp that we used for a wind brake blew down and we couldn't keep the propane burner going to make the coffee. The cookies probably would have blown away anyhow.

There always has to be one of those guys show up that figures the conditions out and makes everyone else look bad and today that guy was Glenn Sampson shooting a fantastic 100 yard score of 250 16X when the rest of us worked hard for much worse scores.
